Housing battle cost us £207k

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE than £207,000 in legal costs has been spent by two councils fighting over future housing development, Luton on Sunday can reveal.

Luton Borough Council has spent a total of £109,922 on a judicial review challenging Central Bedfordshire Council's outline approval for plans to build homes and retail space in Houghton Regis.

The council also forked out £12,415 attending a separate hearing where Central Beds was criticised for not co-operating on its housing plans.

Central Beds spent £48,666 on the judicial review and £37,500 on the planning hearing.

Luton said the legal costs could be offset by the number of affordable homes the town could gain if its challenge is successful.

A spokesman said: "The fundamental issue at stake throughout this process has been to get Central Bedfordshire Council to fulfil its duty to cooperate in the preparation of a strategy to address Luton's very significant unmet housing need over the next 15 to 20 years."

The council wants Central Beds to increase the amount of housing allocated to Luton residents in any future developments.

Andrew David, from Central Bedfordshire's planning team, said his council was in an 'unavoidable position of having to appoint Counsel to defend and protect a much-needed development that will deliver nationally important infrastructure'.

Luton's legal spend came to light following a Freedom of Information request submitted by parliamentary candidate Katie Redmond. It was distributed to media outlets in the town.

She said: "This is not what people want their tax spent on when they are facing service cuts and they are wondering where their money is going."

She added: "I think Luton should accept the offer from Central Bedfordshire and start developing because there is an urgent need for housing."

Her sentiments were echoed by Cllr David Franks, leader of the Luton Liberal Democrats, who said: "The absolutely disgraceful war of words between Central Bedfordshire and Luton has been going for years and years. It is costing taxpayers money and getting in the way of sensible co-operation between the two councils."

£3k of damage in 15 minutes

VANDALS broke into a football club's ground in the early hours of Thursday morning, stealing a minibus stereo and forcing entry to a shed.

Barton Rovers Football Club suffered £3,000 worth of damages after three men broke in at 12.35am, leaving just 15 minutes later.

Vice Chairman Steve Jefcoat (pictured) said: "They smashed the back windows of the minibus and stole the radio and also broke into the store shed and took tools and some other items."

Bedfordshire Police are currently investigating the break-in.

Man pleads guilty to child abuse

A GANG of paedophiles raped and abused young children in attacks that were live streamed over the internet, a court heard on Friday.

Among them was Bedfordshire man Robin Hollyson, who pleaded guilty to sexual assault and a number of rapes on a baby.

Prosecutor Robert Davies told the jury at Bristol Crown Court that five of the gang had pleaded guilty to a range of offences, including rape of a child and conspiracy to rape a child during 2013 and 2014.

He added: "This prosecution will take you into a world you wish did not exist."

"The evidence exposes the shocking interest a group of men had in sexually abusing children and babies."

Christopher Knight, 35, of Manchester; Adam Toms, 33, of Somerset; David Harsley, 51, of Humberside and Matthew Lisk, 35, of Sussex, also entered guilty pleas for a range of offences.

Two of the men have denied the charges put to them. John Denham, 49, of Wiltshire, and Matthew Stansfield, 34, of Hampshire, have denied charges of conspiracy to rape a child and are on trial.

The court heard none of the parents of the children involved had any idea their sons were being abused.

The group were arrested between September 11 - 25 after police used IP addresses to track Hollyson. The men would connect to the 'dark web' - a secret untraceable internet - and used Skype and other video conferencing software to 'meet up' online, the court heard.

The trial continues.

Requests for Clarification ...

Over the course of the Easter Holiday period we have received numerous requests for clarification about recent reports on the subject of the name 'Moorlands School', its ownership and its future use.

... Ownership of the name 'Moorlands School'

Shortly before the end of last term we learned from our solicitors that the right to the use of the name 'Moorlands School' (the name this school had exclusively used between 1926 and 2011) will revert back to us in 2016. While we have always been the sole legal owners of the name 'Moorlands School', four years ago we licenced the name to a Free School project which was eventually taken over by the Barnfield Federation and became known as 'Barnfield Moorlands Free School'.

... Termination of the Licence

The termination of this License has been brought about as the result of negotiations between our solicitors and the Barnfield Federation, the conclusions of which have now been set down in a written agreement. The Barnfield Federation have, under this agreement, been given a period in which to cease using the name Moorlands and select a new name for their Free School. We wanted to give the Free School a fair and reasonable period of time in which to adjust and make the necessary changes to the organisation, administration and management of their school. This has been timed so that the name change and their departure from Leagrave Hall both occur at the same time, ie no later than 31st August 2016.

... Absolutely no intention of doing so

Although we have remained the owners of the Moorlands name, brand and trademarks since 2011, we are enormously pleased at the concluding of this agreement and the termination of the Licence in 2016. While this would allow us, if we so wished, to resume using of the name 'Moorlands School' in 2016, we have, however, absolutely no intention of doing so. From the time the school was originally established in 1891 until 1926 it was known as King's House School. It adopted the name Moorlands when it moved from King Street in Luton to a house named Moorlands which was owned by a King's House parent and situated in Dunstable Road.

We have spent the past three and a half years successfully re-establishing the name King's House School and building its reputation within the town - will shall continue to do so in the years to come. While Moorlands was a name we were proud to use for many years, it is a name that very much belongs to the past. We are now 100% focussed on the future of King's House and the exciting plans we have recently announced for the school.

Yours sincerely

Principal

Victims face long wait as officers response time to 999 calls goes up

BY CARL MUNGAZI
 carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

CRIME victims in the county have seen the biggest increase in waiting times for police officers to respond to emergency calls, new figures have revealed.

The average wait for a response to a 999 call in England and Wales increased by 17 per cent between 2011 and 2014, according to a Freedom of Information request released by the Labour Party.

Bedfordshire saw the biggest rise, with the average response time going from seven minutes to 11 minutes - a rise of 57 per cent.

It was followed by Devon and Cornwall, which saw a rise from six minutes to nine minutes.

Twenty out of 27 forces in England and Wales which replied to the request said response times had gone up, with just two saying they had fallen.

The data covered the highest priority 999 calls between the hours of 11pm and 6am.

Superintendent Mark Upex, from Bedfordshire Police, said the force was changing the way it operated so it could reduce the response time, especially to calls in rural areas.

He said: "We are aware of our response times to emergency calls and are putting a number of measures in place to improve our service."

"We are a small force and have to balance dealing with a high demand in our urban areas with also covering a large rural area."

"We have invested in technology such as mobile data which means officers are now able to work away from stations and thus be able to respond to incidents nearby."

"We have also brought in an Automatic Vehicle Location System which allows us to identify and deploy the nearest officers to an incident."

Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins added that the figures showed the force was stretched due to 'historic underfunding'.

CANDIDATE: Mrs Waheed will seek election in the Challney ward

Labour deputy to stand in for suspended councillor

THE vice-chairwoman of the town's Labour Party has been chosen to stand in place of a councillor suspended over alleged expenses irregularities.

Last week, Luton on Sunday revealed that Khtija Malik, who used to represent the Challney Ward, had been suspended by the party and was ineligible to stand in next month's elections.

Luton Borough Council is investigating expenses she made related to childcare at a private school. In a statement, the Labour Party said Yasmin Waheed 'has been active in the Labour Party and in the community for over 20 years'.

Mrs Waheed was involved in setting up the Chaul End Development Trust as well as a pre-school.

All of the council's 48 seats will be up for election next month.

Sitters can't cope with rise in dog nanny jobs

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

COULD you see yourself spending days - or weeks - with someone else's dog indulging its every whim?

If the answer is yes, then you might be a candidate to join the growing army of pet nannies being employed by the super-rich to look after their beloved animal companions.

Nina Cole, who runs Nina's Nannies for Pets in Eaton Bray, said she is looking for more pet sitters as demand for the service is high among wealthy clients, as well as those who are less well off.

Her business covers the South of England and provides a variety of services, including the popular live-in pet sitting package.

For £29-a-day per animal, one of her 'nannies' can stay with your pet while you are away on holiday or business.

She said: "We cater for people of every social standing, so we try to be affordable for everyone. Our sitters could be in a small property one week and then in a huge property with a helicopter the next week.

"People that use us are real animal lovers and they do not want disruption to their pet's routine. We have had celebrities and other people use us but we keep their names confidential."

Nina, who used to be a secretary, started the business 17 years ago after her husband was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis and she had a brain haemorrhage.

She said the illness had made her realise 'life was too short to do what you did not want to do'.

She added: "This type of work is not suited to anyone who wants a regular nine to five. It's ideally suited to people who are retired because it enables them to choose when they work and where they work."

"We are always looking for live-in pet sitters because it's a very popular service."

"We now cover the south of the UK and I have about 40 people on my books at the moment."

SUPERNANNY: Nina works with local pet charities like Appledown as well as sitting for high profile celebrities

Village shock over legal high syringe

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A NEEDLE found among discarded 'legal high' canisters near a village hall car park has shocked and 'surprised' residents.

The items were found by Harlington resident Andrew Fildes last Friday when he was walking his dog.

He posted images of the items on Facebook and they were cleared within the hour after a resident informed the local Street Watch group.

The use of legal highs is a growing trend in the UK, especially among other young people.

Mr Fildes said: "I put most of them in the bin because there were about 20-25 there."

"They are fairly harmless but then I saw the syringe and anyone could have picked it up, like my dog and there are lots of kids playing around here."

"To be fair, that stuff should not be done at all, but if you're going to do it, do it in your own home, not there."

He added: "I was surprised when I found them and everyone was surprised."

"In the evening there are

What do YOU think?

Email editor@
lsnmedia.co.uk

always teenagers out there having a smoke but this is the first time I've come across anything that could be more sinister.

"It looks like this is a place where kids around here go. I think it's probably low-level stuff and we do not need to get a SWAT team in, but we probably need to deter them."

Bedfordshire Police said it had not received any reports about the items but issued a statement warning about the dangers of legal highs.

A spokeswoman said: "Just because a substance is marketed as being 'legal', it does not mean it is safe.

"It's not always clear what ingredients such substances are made up of, or what effect it is likely to have on you."

School inquiry comes to end

COUNCIL staff are due to meet with the chairman of governors and headteacher of a school accused of having a culture of bullying and intimidation.

Luton Borough Council said it has finished its investigation into Lealands High School after whistleblowers made the allegations in a letter sent to various organisations and individuals, including Ofsted, exam boards and unions.

A council spokeswoman said: "We have just concluded our investigation and will be discussing our findings with the chairman of governors and headteacher when the school reopens next week."

However, the authority has declined to say whether it will be making its findings public.

The spokeswoman added: "We will be issuing a statement once we have met and spoken to the school."

The letter, which was sent in January this year, alleged that some staff had been unfairly dismissed.

It also referred to the misuse of CCTV, school funds and controlled assessments.

BRAND NEW: Trains to improve transport to the capital

New 'smart trains' to arrive in 2016

THE first new Thameslink trains are on track to begin transporting passengers by spring next year.

Three of the 'intelligent' Siemens 'Desiro City' Class 700, one of which will serve the route between Bedford and Brighton, are currently being tested with the hopes of making more effective through-London transport.

The provider claims new carriages have 'increased capacity, advanced technology, and better access for those with reduced mobility'.

Explosion leaves pair with injuries

BY JENNA HUTBER
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

INVESTIGATIONS are ongoing after a gas explosion lit up a home and injured two people in the early hours of Friday morning, police have confirmed.

Just before 2am Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service was called to the scene of a ground-floor property in Chesford Road, Luton.

Two people were harmed in the incident, with one person suffering minor burns and at least one person receiving trauma treatment from paramedics. Both a rapid response vehicle and an ambulance attended the scene and the burn victim was taken to Lister Hospital.

Police have confirmed that two men have been arrested in connection with the incident and that butane gas is believed to have caused the explosion.

A Bedfordshire Police spokesman said: "A 23-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of possession of a controlled substance with intent to supply and is currently being held in police custody.

"Another 25-year-old man has also been arrested but is being treated in hospital for superficial burn injuries.

"A cordon remains in place while investigations into what caused the explosion continue."

The incident reportedly started in the kitchen but there was no fire when emergency services arrived.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows.

The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

"The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Thieves target more Corsas for car parts

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

ANOTHER spate of Vauxhall Corsa thefts happened over the Easter weekend.

This follows a theft the previous week where another of the cars was targeted in an underground car park in Dunstable.

Between 8pm on Sunday and 11.25am on Monday, a number of the popular Vauxhall cars had parts stolen from them.

In Linnere Walk, Houghton Regis, the bonnet of a Corsa was stolen and two windows were smashed.

Also in Houghton Regis, this time in Rose Walk, the front bumper, front headlights, a wheel nut lock, and a registration plate with the number KV63 OKM were also taken.

In Dunstable, in Frenchs Avenue, the whole front part of a Corsa was stolen including the bonnet and the bumper, the window wipers, and a registration plate with the number LK64 YUC. In Kirton Way the front registration plate, number EY63 TWZ, was stolen.

In the incident the previous week (pictured), the car's front bumper grill, lights, number plate and radiator were all removed.

There is nothing which currently suggests any of the incidents are linked. Anyone with any information is urged to contact police on 101.

Black Honda stolen over Easter weekend

POLICE are looking to trace a thief who broke into one car to remove the keys to another from a handbag inside.

Between 12.45pm and 1.30pm on Saturday a car was broken into at the Sharpnose Clappers in Sharpnose.

A handbag was stolen from the car which contained identification documents and a set of car keys for another vehicle.

The victims returned home to an address in Marlborough Road, Luton, to find that their black Honda Jazz had been stolen.

The registration number of the car is LM64XFT.

If you need to leave valuables inside the car, police recommended that you hide them or lock them in the boot and only when no-one is looking.

It is always preferable to remove items such as handbags, phones, and sat navs, in order to reduce temptation for thieves.

Anyone who witnessed either incident is asked to contact the Bedfordshire Police Crime Bureau on 101.

Heal our NHS

I'M sure the whole population would like to know how and why the NHS seems to be a 'basketcase' in terms of it being almost bankrupt, when it purportedly receives millions of pounds in funding from the government every year.

Isn't it well overdue to have some transparency of the precise numbers of people working in every hospital covering each individual departments personnel, average total salary spend per person and skills set, so we can see how and what is done in all those departments?

I'm sure we would see that the nursing and medical staffed departments are the lowest paid on average with the best skill set and the greatest workload, however when compared to the 'administration departments' and administrators we would find the greatest numbers of personnel, highest salary, against average skill set and lowest workload.

We might also find that these administrators have 'ring-fenced' departments with layers of personnel to protect their existence and supposed importance, although they collectively will contribute little to the direct care and flow of patients in these hospitals.

I also suspect these departments are the ones that should be 'culled' in terms of overheads, as should the other layers operating outside the fabric of these hospitals, such as the NHS Trusts and CCGs.

The strong possibility for eliminating or significantly reducing the bureaucratic and

You can only blame yourself

I WOULD like to thank all those people who will not be bothering to vote on May 7, 2015.

I will be voting. You may not like Labour, or UKIP running the country. But if I and my fellow voters choose to vote for either party, you will have to except the party we voted for.

You have no say on the subject.

So you just sit at home on May 7, watching Eastenders.

Leave the voting to people like me.

There's no one worth voting for anyway is there?

Then, when you don't like the party who wins have a good moan. Blame everyone but yourself.

Don't take it out on the dog. It's your own fault. Or maybe you could just vote.

Try it. It don't hurt.

economising. I feel if the Police Commissioner cannot make these savings then he is failing his responsibilities and he is certainly wasting a great deal of money that could be used to improve the police service without the trouble and expense of holding a referendum.

Phyllis Jones

Numbers game

I WRITE in response to the article in LoS on the serious shortage of GPs in Bedfordshire due to doctors retiring early, going overseas or working part time.

The primary reason being the intense pressures GPs face in their everyday work, made worst by the fact that around half their time on duty is away from patients. Probably the single most important reason for this situation, which also affects health costs, recruitment and standards of care, is the ever rising number of patients that doctors and hospital staff have to cope with.

The population of the UK is rising by 300,000 a year due primarily to uncontrolled immigration. This means we will have another city the size of Birmingham every 2-3 years. How many extra GPs, nurses, dentists and para-medics will be needed to provide for these additional people? It is all about numbers - more medical staff and far fewer potential patients.

It's a matter of simple arithmetic.

Mark Adkin
Bedfordshire

Taxpayers pick up the tab

I AM very concerned at the considerable waste of money being spent to hold a referendum demanded by the Police Commissioner to gain an increase in the council tax we pay.

Whilst I am not convinced about having an elected Police Commissioner I do believe that the job was created to help make the best service possible for the least money used thereby creating a better and safer county with less cost in other words, wisely administration elements of the NHS would almost certainly result in the solution for a complete 'cure' and not the sticking plaster remedy continuously applied by every political party, to what is a fundamentally successful and much revered service to this country.

So come May 7 lets all hope they listen and put in place a proper effective investigation and plan to prevent the NHS losing more of the British taxpayers hard earned money.

Film pair premiere five year production

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A DUNSTABLE film which took five years to produce is to have its premier later this month after securing a distribution deal.

In The Blood, shot by Control Films, which is run by Darren Pratt from Dunstable and Mark Abrahams from Toddington, will show at The Grove Theatre at 7.30pm on April 21.

It was filmed in the town last year and depicts the story of Johnny (Skins actor Joe Cole), a heroin addict who is forced to help a violent gang break into a safe following the death of his grandfather.

Mr Pratt said Control Films secured a nationwide release deal because of their local support and after being crowned the Breakthrough Talent of 2014 at Film London.

The film was originally called Peterman, but the name was changed after the distribution company said it was too obscure.

Mr Pratt added: "We had the exposure through social media networks. A lot of funding came from family and friends in Dunstable, so without that it would have never been made."

Tickets for the film have already gone on sale and Mr Pratt said they were selling fast as interest in the film was high locally.

He added: "We have had our first review by the Daily Mail and they called it the British Reservoir Dogs. We hope to make another film with a bigger budget and not have to beg, borrow and steal."

"We have proved ourselves with what we've made. It's taken us five years to do this but it's been worth it. It has been tough."

Right up your street

How did an author get on the map?

THE naming of Austin Road in Barnfield starts with the birth of William Austin in 1850, the son of prominent local solicitor Thomas Erskine Austin.

The 1871 census shows William to be a medical student but he eventually followed his father into the legal profession.

Like his father, he did a lot of work for the council, but is best remembered as the man who wrote the second most significant book about Luton, the two-volume The History of Luton and its Hamlets, which was published shortly after his death in 1928.

The developer of Austin Road was a local builder named Mr W. Reeves, who suggested Reeves Road to the council in 1930.

But the council did not take his suggestion and instead decided to honour William.

However, Reeves got his wish a year later when Reeves Avenue was accepted.

And in 1956 a new school built in Austin Road was given the name William Austin.

■ Howard Chandler will be giving a free talk – called Growing up in Luton – at Luton Central library on April 18 at 12pm.

Party in honour of loyal litter picker

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

A RUBBISH collector who has been responsible for keeping a village looking 'beautiful' has retired after over 20 years of service.

Peter Fleckney, 67, was honoured at a retirement party thrown by Harlington residents who wanted to mark the 28 years of service he has given the area.

One of the party organisers, Sue Cullen, said he would be 'greatly missed' by residents in the village.

Harlington Parish Council appointed gave him the post after he left his job at SKF in Luton for personal reasons.

Peter's sister, Pearl Rowe, who lives in Sundon Park, said he has learning difficulties and had been handed the post as way of giving him 'a purpose'.

She said: "Initially it was for two hours a week but he went out every day because he loves talking to people and is a social person."

"He probably would not have retired but my dad fell quite ill recently. Peter was able to look after him but then my dad passed away three weeks ago, so he has now come to live with me.

"Leaving this job will be very hard for him when we actually give the keys back."

"He loved the job but I'm sure within a couple of months he will be socialising with people in Sundon Park."

Pearl also said she wanted to thank Harlington residents for all they had done.

She added: "I greatly appreciate it and Peter really did enjoy the party. Everyone in Harlington has been kind to him. When people are like Peter others tend to ridicule him, but even the kids at the school talk to him, so I appreciate all that they have done for him."

Sue said that since Peter retired the village has been left with a 'real gap' to fill.

She added: "He was one of the first people you saw when you came to the village and he will be greatly missed."

Keep your postal vote safe

Voting by post is an easy and convenient way of voting if you are unable to get to your polling station on the day of an election. But remember, your postal vote is for you, and nobody else.

- As soon as you get your postal voting papers, put them somewhere safe where nobody else can pick them up
- Complete your ballot paper in secret, on your own
- Don't let anyone else vote for you
- Put your ballot paper and postal voting statement in the envelopes provided, and seal them personally
- Take your sealed postal vote to a post box yourself, if you can. Alternatively, give it only to someone you know and trust to post it for you.

For more advice and information about voting by post, go to www.luton.gov.uk/elections.

Election day: Meet

WITH the election now just four weeks away, it's time to get to know the candidates vying for your vote in SOUTH WEST BEDFORDSHIRE and find out what they stand for...

CON: Andrew Selous

Should the Spare Room Subsidy/Bedroom Tax be abolished given the impact it's had?

AS: We need to manage our housing stock better to provide the larger properties to people who need them, to help people who are overcrowded or on waiting lists. Very few people have brought spare room subsidy cases to me recently. To reverse the policy would cost £1 billion over the next two years. Central Bedfordshire Council is building the new homes we need.

DS: Certainly. The bedroom tax is a very unfair tax, with two thirds of those being affected having a disability. The coalition government has imposed the Bedroom Tax on families who are already hard pressed to make ends meet.

SR: No, but it should be reformed. The welfare budget had to be reduced and cutting back on housing benefits to people with more space than they needed was part of that. The change we would make is to only reduce people's benefit if they have turned down an acceptable property. However, the best solution is to make sure that smaller houses and flats are available. Lib Dem plans to build new social housing will go a long way towards that.

JVW: Yes - without a shadow of a doubt!

What will be the biggest issue facing South West Beds over the next four years?

AS: The biggest issue facing SW Beds over the next few years is how to provide high skilled, well paid jobs. The new University Technical College in Houghton Regis, the new Engineering and Construction skills centre in Leighton Buzzard, and the rebuild of Central Beds College along with the building of the A5-M1 link road, will all help achieve this.

DS: I see the biggest issue being the need to accommodate essential additional housing in the most suitable locations, with adequate infrastructure including employment and affordable housing. There is much new housing planned but a big question mark over how much is going to be affordable. We also need adequate school provision.

SR: How and whether the next government deals with the deficit. Unlike Labour, Lib Dems know the deficit must be eliminated. Unlike the Tories, we are prepared to tax the wealthy.

JVW: Housing. The problem which seems set to continue revolves around the granting of planning permission for huge numbers of houses, often on green fields, with very little concern given to the vital aspect of infrastructure.

How should the provision of gypsy and traveller sites be dealt with in this area?

AS: I set out my views on gypsy and traveller planning policy in a debate I called for in Parliament recently. I want to see one planning system for everyone as I believe that having a separate policy for gypsies and travellers does not serve them well or promote community cohesion. Many travellers already live as settled residents.

DS: The council has (quite rightly) a legal obligation to provide an adequate number of sites for gypsies and travellers. Their location is always going to be controversial, and Central Bedfordshire Council needs to revisit its plans and meet the inspector's criticisms while taking residents' views into account as much as possible

SR: With the whole population increasing more traveller sites are needed. I would much prefer well run, legal sites to illegal sites and Central Beds will have to find more land. However, this doesn't mean spending a fortune or building on the greenbelt.

JVW: There must be one law in this country for everyone, and all citizens must abide by the law of the land. Political correctness and discretion prevents me from commenting further.

What's your favourite way to spend a Friday night?

AS: Having supper with my family at home or having friends round.

DS: This has changed considerably over the years, but at present it would be staying in with my family and watching a good film with a glass of beer in my hand.

SR: Going out with my wife, perhaps to a pub for a meal or the cinema for a good comedy.

JVW: Deep in the arms of Morpheus.

Fake letter mum spared jail term

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@londonmedia.co.uk

A SINGLE mum who forged a job letter in an attempt to get bail for a friend was told by a judge on Wednesday that she was 'naïve and very stupid'.

But Judge David Farrell QC did not send Katie Cox, 32, to jail, and said it was 'unfair' that the people who put her up to faking the letter had not been prosecuted.

Prosecutor Isabel Delamere told Luton Crown Court that

Cox had been asked by a male friend to provide a letter offering employment to a woman who was being held on remand in Peterborough jail.

The letter, which purported to come from Angel Hair and Beauty in Bedford Road, Barton-le-Clay, said the woman would be employed as a nail technician, and was signed by Cox.

An officer in the case contacted the owner of the salon to make further checks, only to be told she had not sent out any letter.

Cox, of Long Close, Luton, who has a five-year-old daughter, admitted committing acts intended to pervert the course of justice.

Defence barrister Tomas McGarvey said: "She is working and bringing up a young child. She pleaded guilty at the earliest opportunity. It was unusual that the police decided not to prosecute the others."

Cox was given a four month prison sentence, which was suspended for four months.

CCTV: The two men the police would like to speak to

Images released after shop robbery

POLICE have released images of two men they would like to speak to in connection with an armed robbery.

Just after midnight, in the early hours of Monday morning, two men entered the shop in Marsh Road, Luton and threatened the shop worker with a knife before stealing alcohol.

Anyone with any information relating to the incident is asked to contact Luton CID on 101.

Hoo you gonna call for a day of pure rest and relaxation at a luxury spa?

SPA DAYS

LUTON HOO HOTEL AND SPA

Luton
Open all year round

I'VE been lucky enough to go to some very nice hotels in my time but until recently the extent of the 'luxury' had been popping into the steam room and sauna or having a dip in the hot tub.

As a birthday treat from my family this year, I decided it was high time I get away for a stress-free day and what better way than with a spa day at a luxury hotel practically on my doorstep?

I chose to indulge in the Spa and Afternoon Tea package at Luton Hoo, taking my mum along for good measure, and indulge we did.

We arrived at the spa (once we'd navigated the slightly confusing layout of the grounds) at around 12 noon and headed straight for the pool, big white dressing gown and slippers in hand.

My favourite part of the pool area is always the steam room. While some might consider it muggy, I adore being enveloped in the heat and could quite happily sink into a peaceful sleep.

And what I loved about this particular steam room was - surprise surprise - the steam. Many I've been to in the past actually lack it, making it all just that bit too cosy with the strangers you're sharing with. But this little room was a sanctuary of thick, fragrant vapour, creating my own little world of relaxation. The sauna, for me, was not so pleasant, but then I expected that going in. The heat in those arid wooden boxes is always too dry and Luton Hoo's was no exception.

After a token effort at swimming and a brief bubble in the hot tub it was time to move on to the bit I'd been looking forward to most: the back, neck and shoulder massage.

We quietly tiptoed up the stairs (much like in a library, you had to wonder if a stern matronly

STRESS FREE DAY: Luton Hoo Hotel offers a range of spa packages ranging from £50 to £260. We tried the Spa and Afternoon Tea deal for £100 per person figure would appear from nowhere to shush you should you make more noise than a mouse) to the private rooms where the treatments take place and waited a short while for our turn.

I was up first and was led away to have my 25 minute massage first, followed by another 25 minute manicure treatment.

The massage was utter heaven. With every movement of the therapist's hands it felt like the stress and tension of everyday life was being drawn out of my skin. In fact it was so perfectly relaxing I very nearly gave over to sleep. The nail treatment however was not so enjoyable. Firstly, it lasted just about 15 minutes let alone 25 and without wanting to be too judgmental, I've had better at far inferior facilities than these (I spoke to other ladies there the same day who fared even worse).

Slightly disappointing manicure out of the way, the day then really perked up again when we reached the beautiful Mansion House for afternoon tea. On the menu was a variety of delectable finger sandwiches, a selection of cakes, some scrumptious scones with jam and cream and more tea and coffee than you could

(or should) drink in a day. My mum and I were treated to far more than we could actually eat (even without having had lunch) and were given what we couldn't manage to take home in a box - with the exception of the finger sandwich leftovers which were sadly missing when we opened it up...

■ A Spa and Afternoon Tea package for two people at Luton Hoo costs £100 each. Other spa days are available. Gift vouchers are available to purchase online at: lutonhoo.co.uk/gift-certificates

Disney magic revived

FILM

CINDERELLA

Cineworld Luton
All this week

CATE Blanchett stars in this refreshing re-make of the classic Cinderella tale directed by Kenneth Branagh that revives the traditional magic of Disney.

Finally, a decent live action version of Cinderella hits the big screen and manages to stick loyally to the Disney animation.

We all know the story: an orphaned girl is kept as a servant by her wicked stepmother and ugly step sisters until her fairy godmother pays her a visit.

Disney have been lucky to land Branagh to direct, who is more than capable of keeping the story moving along swiftly against stunning backdrops and traditional values.

Branagh succeeds where other Disney adaptations, like Maleficent and Mirror Mirror, missed the mark for a larger than life picture wrapped up in a neat candy-coloured package.

Sophie McShera and Holliday Grainger are wicked fun as the harsh stepsisters and look like a pair of evil china dolls.

Helena Bonham Carter is full of energy as the Tim Burton inspired fairy godmother, but with airiness as opposed to gothic chic.

But it's Cate Blanchett as the glamorous evil stepmother who gives the film its backbone as she sneers, smoulders and steals every scene. Branagh cleverly crafts depth to her character, complete with monologue about why she's so bitter, but that doesn't mean we're meant to feel sympathy for her.

With all this shining star talent it leaves the two leads Lily James and Richard Madden as Ella and the Prince in the shadows.

Their roles are the least dazzling and in a film this vibrant, that's saying something. Cinderella's story is whittled down to housework and a dramatic makeover with a dash of endearing optimism, which thankfully isn't sickeningly sweet.

From the moment Carter's fairy godmother zaps pumpkins into carriages and lizards into courtiers, the magic starts to wane. We begin to get bogged down in sentimentality and the realisation that we've seen this tale plenty of times before on stage and screen.

For a film that started out with such promise and originality, it's a shame it turns into a cliché that just goes through the motions to reach that predictable happy ending.

We give it: 3/5

Merton and chums are just making it up as they go along

COMEDY

IMPRO CHUMS

Alban Arena
Friday, April 24 8pm

WHOSE line is it anyway? Don't ask Paul Merton, or any of his mates for that matter. Better to just sit back and enjoy the quickwitted madness.

And later this month Paul and the gang will be delivering their unique brand of comedy genius to an arena just a short train ride away.

Best known for his appearances on Have I Got News For You, Paul Merton is taking his new show Impro Chums on tour, stopping off in St Albans.

This performance will see a different show every night as Paul, along with Mike McShane, Lee Simpson, Richard Vranich and Suki Webster, will be improvising based on suggestions by the audience.

This is the first night of their 2015 tour, but don't fear any rustiness as this group have been performing this show for more than 10 years, earning rave reviews wherever they go.

Merton especially, who along with Vranich is still an integral part of the popular improv-comedy group The Comedy Store Players which eventually led to the iconic TV show Whose Line Is It Anyway?

It was there which Merton really cut his teeth in the comedy business, before becoming a household name on TV shows, including a long running stint on panel show Have I Got News For You.

This is a chance to see Merton go back to his roots with a number of other talented improv artists.

The show is two hours long and is strictly for ages 16 and over. Tickets are available online from alban-arena.co.uk/ or over the phone by calling the box office on 01727 844488, or in person at the Alban Arena box office. Tickets cost £21, or £19 for concessions.

A £1.50 booking fee applies for online or phone bookings.

Brontë ballet brings the Yorkshire moors to Milton Keynes

BALLET

NORTHERN BALLET

Milton Keynes Theatre
Tuesday, April 28 - Saturday, May 2

FORGET windswept landscapes as a backdrop for one of the greatest stories of love, loss (and lust) ever told - Wuthering Heights is coming to MK with added piroettes.

In fact, Leeds' Northern Ballet Company will be putting on a double-header at the theatre later this month.

Kicking off the double helping by one of the UK's top ballet companies is their adaptation of Emily Brontë's classic novel, bringing the Yorkshire Moors to Buckinghamshire.

Mixing music by the Tony Award winning Claude-Michel Schönberg, best known for his work on the classic musical Les Misérables with choreography by David Nixon OBE, it will tell the story of Cathy and Heathcliff's turbulent love affair in ways you won't have seen before.

First performed in 2002, this was Nixon's first creation for the Northern Ballet and his first collaboration with Schönberg.

While it initially opened to mixed reviews in its earlier performances, the ballet has grown in reputation since opening. This has undoubtedly been helped by the company itself growing, allowing them to tap into a greater talent pool and create a greater depth of cast members.

It has gone from strength to strength ever since.

In a complete change of mood, and for two performances only, Northern Ballet presents an extra special treat for younger audiences with a delightful retelling of the famous fairy tale, Elves and the Shoemaker. A poor but kind-hearted shoemaker discovers that overnight his very last piece of leather is transformed into the most magnificent pair of magical shoes.

But who is the mysterious maker? Performances of the show were aired on the BBC children's channel Cbeebies last week, with two showings on the bank holiday Easter Monday.

Evening performances of Wuthering Heights will run from Tuesday, April 28 until Saturday, April 2, kicking off at 7.30pm. There will also be 2.30pm matinees on the Thursday and Saturday.

Ticket prices range from £12 to £32.50. Tickets for Elves and the Shoemaker are £6, with performances on Friday, May 1, at 12pm and 2pm.

Fees apply when buying tickets over the phone or online. Book your tickets for either show now at Milton Keynes Theatre Box Office, by calling 0844 871 7652 or book online by visiting atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes

COMEDY

BARNSTORMERS

Grove Theatre, Dunstable
Thursday, April 16 8pm

THREE top comedians from the London circuit will be making an appearance at the Grove as part of their monthly comedy night.

Taking place in the Upper Foyer and compered by Kevin Precious, it features three stand-up veterans who have cut their teeth both on stage and on screen.

Opening affairs is Andrew Bird, who first took an interest in comedy when watching The Young Ones on a Comic Relief special and has wanted to make people laugh ever since.

Originally from Northampton, he moved to South London a while back and has been doing stand up ever since.

He supported Rhod Gilbert on his 2010 tour, including a night at the Hammersmith Apollo.

The next act, Nina Benjamin, was catapulted to fame in 2003 as part of BBC Three's hidden camera comedy show 3 Non-Blondes, alongside Tameka Empson and Jocelyn Lee Esien.

Since the show ended, she has been on a whole host of other TV shows, including Celebrity Masterchef, before going down the stand up route.

She is a regular headliner at top UK comedy clubs, including Jongleurs, and has also spread her talents overseas, going as far away as the Cape Town Comedy Festival in South Africa.

Lastly, we have Dundee's Paul Pirie.

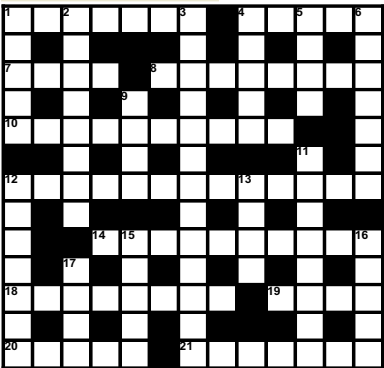

A mainstay of Scottish comedy, Paul has recently relocated to Essex and does a number of shows in and around London.

He broke onto the scene in 2004 and since then has played the Glasgow Comedy Festival and made a host of TV appearances, both in Scotland and in England.

Tickets are £12.50 through the box office on 01582 602080 or are available by visiting grovetheatre.co.uk

Tickets are available for £15 on the door.

PRESS RELEASE

MARCH 2015

Help to Buy ISA is positive news for local housing market

The team at local estate agency Connells in Luton has welcomed the introduction of the Help to Buy ISA as announced in Chancellor George Osborne's annual Budget. The Help to Buy ISA will assist first time buyers save for a deposit by allowing individuals to save up to £200 a month towards their first home which the government will then boost by 25%. Effectively this is a £50 bonus for every £200 saved, up to £3,000.

"This is welcome news for those struggling to take their first step onto the housing ladder. We see this as another positive incentive to help people save for their first home and a welcome addition to the Help to Buy scheme which enables purchasers to buy a home with only a 5% deposit," says Jay Taylor, Mortgage Manager at Connells Luton.

The new ISAs will launch in the autumn through banks and building societies and be available to take out for up to four years for homes worth up to £450,000 in London and £250,000 elsewhere.

"This is a real boost for our local market as this will stimulate more buyer and seller activity. Aspiring home owners will get the chance to build an even greater deposit pot which, in time, can only help to get the local market moving. It is especially encouraging to couples who are buying for the first time as both are eligible to open a Help to Buy ISA and this could see them potentially receiving a £6,000 Government bonus towards their new home," continues Jay.

Connells Successful Lettings Team Needs More Homes

Local lettings agent Connells in Luton is calling on all landlords and investors with vacant properties to get in touch. Business is booming and the huge demand for properties to let is outweighing the supply of rental homes, creating a huge opportunity for landlords and buy-to-let investors. The lettings team is led by manager Justin Walters who has a wealth of experience in the estate agency trade and is well placed to advise local tenants and work alongside landlords and investors. "The local lettings market in and around Luton is extremely busy at the moment," says Justin. "We have a host of tenants who are looking for property to rent but not enough stock to meet the demand. We desperately need more one or two bedroom properties in particular as we have seen those that come on to the market successfully let on first viewing." Luton continues to be a sought after area for letting properties and the rental market continues to grow. The branch is urging landlords to take advantage of the current high demand for rental properties and asking prospective tenants to get in touch to secure the best properties on the market to let. Indeed, Connells parent company, the Connells Group, is currently undergoing what is considered to be the largest lettings expansion project ever undertaken by a UK agency. This will include the addition of a further 75 new lettings branches to the local branch network in 2015. "The rental market shows no sign of slowing down shown by Connells Group's ambitious plans to grow this area of the business. We are seeing many more people either having or choosing to rent and currently demand for rental properties is outstripping supply," continues Justin. "We are the experts in our field - helping landlords find tenants, tenants find good accommodation, manage and help expand property portfolios - and we urge customers to get in touch to see how we can best service their needs." Connells Lettings Luton offers a range of lettings services and advice, from matching tenants to their ideal properties to full property management, rent collection and insurance advice. If you have a property to let, or are looking for a rental home, please contact the lettings team on 01582 481369 or email: lutonlet@connells.co.uk

TENDER FOR HOME TO SCHOOL TRANSPORT AND HOME TO DAY CARE CENTRE

Luton Borough Council invites expressions of interest from suitably experienced and qualified contractors for the provision of "Home to School Transport and Home to Day Centre Transport". Initially, applicants are requested to complete a Pre Qualification Questionnaire. In order to do this you will initially need to register at <https://procurement.luton.gov.uk/weblogin.shtml>. If you need any assistance using the e-tendering website please call 0800 368 4850 or email help@bravosolution.co.uk. The Questionnaire will be on a Pass/Fail basis and the deadline for completion is 12 noon on the 29th April 2015. If you are then selected to tender you need to be aware a Site Visit Assessment will be made to each company selected. The award criteria for the ITT will be on the basis of the most economically advantageous tenders in terms of the criteria stated in the tender documents. The Council intends to use a Reverse e-Auction in this tender exercise and appropriate training will be arranged nearer the time. The Council anticipates holding the e-Auction in early July 2015.

The estimated start date for these contracts will be 3rd September 2015.

NOTICE is hereby given that Luton Borough Council, the Highway Authority for the said Borough, intends to make the above Order under the relevant provisions of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (as amended).

The Order will come into operation on 27th April 2015, for a period of 18 months or until the works are completed whichever is earlier. The Order is intended to create a window for the works to be done and it is anticipated that the works will be completed as per the schedule below unless any such works are delayed by unforeseen circumstances

The effect of the Order will allow the council to close to traffic the roads in the schedule below so routine maintenance works can take place. Specific times and dates and any diversion routes will be signed locally and site operatives will be in attendance when required.

The purpose of the Order is to enable carriageway and lining maintenance works to be carried out.

The Order will also provide for "No Waiting" restrictions to apply in each road for the period of the closure. This will be in force when cones are displayed. Access will be maintained as best as possible to properties and off street parking areas where this may be done safely and diversions for traffic will be marked by signs.

Porsche Boxster Spyder makes debut in New York

Porsche is celebrating the start of the 2015 convertible season with the World premiere of the new Boxster Spyder, a purist sports car making its debut at the New York International Auto Show.

The new range-topping Boxster retains the independent character of the previous Spyder, which has already attained cult status. For example, the classic fabric roof is still opened and closed by hand, and the sports car is available with only a manual transmission.

As a true original roadster, the Boxster Spyder offers a traditional sports-car driving experience but with contemporary performance. This means firm sports suspension with a 20 mm lower ride height, powerful brakes taken from the 911 Carrera, even more direct steering, and a 3.8-litre flat six-cylinder engine with an output of 375 hp (276 kW).

Drivers and passengers can thus look forward to a genuine sports-car experience with outstanding driving dynamics in the lightest yet most powerful Boxster. It takes only around 4.5 seconds for the Boxster Spyder to sprint from 0 to 100 km/h, while the model's top speed is 180 mph. NEDC overall fuel consumption amounts to 28.5 mpg.

The distinctive design of the Boxster Spyder includes visual elements that recall the legendary sports and race cars from Porsche. For example, as a tribute to the 718 Spyder from the 1960s, the new Boxster Spyder has two prominent streamlined bulges that extend down along the long rear lid behind the head restraints. The partially manually operated, lightweight top is suitable for everyday use and brings to mind roadsters from the past, while the fins that stretch back to the rear lend the vehicle's silhouette its characteristic design. The front and rear end of the model are taken from the Cayman GT4.

More so than in any other Boxster, the interior of the new top model creates an atmosphere that elicits a feeling of pure driving pleasure.

In line with the model's purist design neither a radio nor air conditioning is included as standard equipment in order to reduce weight. However, both can be ordered ex-factory as optional equipment at no extra cost.

The new Boxster Spyder will be launched on the market in July and is available to order now from Porsche Centres. UK recommended retail prices start at £60,459 (112,186 EUR).

COVERCAR

New Ford Focus

Take a look inside...

The Ford Focus didn't feel as if it needed to much remedial work done, but the latest updates give it a better-looking face, a more user-friendly interior, more efficient engines and some suspension tweaks that aim to remind us what made the Focus great in the first place.

When this car goes on sale this November, buyers will find that the engine range has also been revised. The Focus petrol engine line-up now largely hinges around an efficient 1.5-litre EcoBoost unit available in either 150 or 180PS outputs. Buyers can though, continue to opt for the 1.0-litre EcoBoost petrol powerplant in 100 and 120PS guises that was chosen by a third of customers in the pre-facelift model - and a sub-100g/km version has also been developed.

Diesel drivers are catered for with a 1.5-litre TDCi powerplant available in 95 or 120PS outputs. The hot ST version should build on the brilliance of its junior sibling, the livewire Fiesta ST.

Dynamically, the biggest change is the uprated dampers, but Ford have also fitted firmer bushings, reprogrammed the stability control to be more progressive and revised the electro-hydraulic steering. The net result is a car that's quicker to react, yet more stable when thrown into extreme manoeuvres, like an emergency lane change. Paddle-shift controls will be available as an option, both diesel and petrol. Focus customers also enjoy a quieter ride, achieved by thicker carpets, thicker side window glass, and improved engine bay insulation.

The interior has also been given a serious once-over. The fascia design is more intuitive, that button-strewn centre stack and steering wheel being tidied up considerably. The black satin trim and chrome detailing contribute to a cleaner aesthetic too. Many of the controls are now marshalled by the SYNC 2 high-resolution, 8-inch colour touch screen system. This includes voice control for 'easier' access to audio, navigation, climate control and compatible mobile phones.

One thing that's undoubtedly an improvement is practicality. The centre storage console offers more space as well as a new sliding, integrated armrest, accommodating a variety of bottles and cups with the capacity to simultaneously hold a litre water bottle and a 400ml cup.

LONG TERM STAY IN MIND: Cameron McGeehan

McGeehan sets sights on a permanent deal

HATTERS

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsnmedia.co

CAMERON McGeehan revealed his hope of a permanent Luton Town deal this summer after scoring the winner against Tranmere Rovers on his 20th birthday.

The Norwich City midfielder is currently enjoying his second loan spell at the Hatters.

He helped the club to the Conference title last term and then in January signed until the end of this campaign following a spell at League Two rivals Cambridge United.

Asked if he'd like to be a Luton player next season, McGeehan said: "Yeah, I'd be happy," adding: "I think there is some stuff set."

As well as angling for a permanent home at Kenilworth Road, the former Chelsea youth also hopes Town can secure back-to-back promotions for the first time in their history.

"It was the best feeling going up and getting promoted as a team," the midfielder said of last term's record-breaking title tilt, which returned the club to the Football League after a five-year exile.

"I think it's much tougher this year. It's a tough league and there are no bad teams, even those at the bottom. I think every team is very similar and there is not much between them. Little fractions make all the difference."

McGeehan's winner on the Wirral came from a rare penalty – their first since September 27 – but, like their three previous attempts from 12 yards, it took two efforts to hit the net with the midfielder supplying the rebound finish after Mark Cullen's spot-kick was saved.

The loan ace joked: "I actually wanted the penalty at first. I told Cully, 'I'll have it'. I think that's the third rebounded penalty that's gone in and [Alex] Lawless said to me, 'make sure you follow it up because you'll get a tap-in', so he obviously didn't trust Cully."

"But it was actually a good strike.

"If I hadn't put it in Cully would have put it in anyway, but I was happy to score with my left foot."

"It was my fifth league goal of the season so I'm quite happy with that as well."

The solitary strike was enough to end a dire seven-game losing streak in League Two and reignite hopes of gaining a play-off spot come the end of the season.

On a personal level, McGeehan also benefitted from playing in an advanced role against Rovers, more akin to the freedom he was given while at Cambridge earlier in the season.

"I've been stuck in limbo for the last few games, not knowing whether to push on, go and get a goal, or to sit," he said.

"That's been addressed. I was playing high and that was my role."

"We'll see what happens for the rest of the season."

He added: "I'd just like to have a position. If I'm going to sit I'd be happy to sit and do that."

"If I'm playing in a [number] ten [role], that's what I like to do as well. I did it at Cambridge and scored a few goals."

"That's my fifth one this year, playing higher. I enjoy that and Luke Guttridge is a great one to learn from. He's had a top career. He helps me a lot."

Manager John Still admitted after beating Rovers that McGeehan had struggled since returning to the club and the midfielder said: "It came hand-in-hand with the team not doing particularly well."

"It's tough coming into a team that is doing really well and we were losing to teams and weren't doing our best at the time."

"It was tough to adapt to it. It's a different style of play to what I've been used to."

"I was here last year but coming back into it again and getting reacquainted with the style of play and players, it was tough."

"I thought I'd come in and it would be great and rosy like it was last year, but it's not always the way. I'll only become better and stronger and hopefully push on."

Losing streak could have its advantages in the long run

HATTERS

Luton Town fan Dave Mackie tries to find positives in the Hatters' recent seven game losing run.

EASTER Monday is usually a day reserved for feeling stuffed, but this year the only thing I felt was relief.

I'm sure many Hatters felt the same as the full-time whistle was blown at Tranmere, signalling a 1-0 Luton win and the end of a soul-destroying seven game run of defeats.

Of course the 90 minutes on the Wirral were far from vintage and Mark Cullen had to mess with our emotions when his penalty kick was saved.

There was Cam the man though and thanks to him burying the rebound there was finally something to cheer about.

A run like that would prove terminal to the promotion aspirations of most clubs but, remarkably, Luton are still in the hunt for a play-off spot.

In just a few short weeks the doom and gloom of the seven losses could be a distant memory, replaced by the euphoria of back-to-back promotions.

Obviously glory at Wembley will only be achieved if some of the wretched performances of the last month or so are not repeated, but if we are to get a play-off spot back, could slipping out of the top seven for a time in fact be a benefit?

It sounds strange, but in a way I think it might. Momentum is often everything in a successful play-off campaign and to gain a berth now would mean a strong end to the campaign.

There would surely be a buzz around the camp due to a doomed looking season being rescued, with a natural enthusiasm and determination to make the most of a second chance.

This could be a better mood to be in than sitting in the play-off spots for weeks – with little chance of slipping out all together or making it into the top three for automatic promotion.

In this situation a team would be waiting, perhaps complacently, for the end of season games to arrive and simply going through the motions.

They could then be under-cooked come play-off time, as opposed to a team who have had everything to play for and have been in 'cup final' mode for some time.

They say you don't know what you've got until it's gone and perhaps the pain of recent weeks could yet become a potentially pivotal moment of the season.

It's also interesting to note that had Luton started poorly, only to significantly improve and move up to the league position we are in now, then the mood around the camp would be much rosier.

Yes, we all want instant success as football fans but it is easy to forget that we have just spent five years in non-league football playing teams who are a world away from us in terms of infrastructure and fan base.

On some of the dark days this scenario would have been snapped up without a second thought so it's important to look for the positives. The march to the Wembley arch, after all, is still on.

BATTLING ON: Scott Griffiths

Griffiths cancels op to aid play-off bid

HATTERS

BY CIARAN THOMAS
sport@ltnmedia.co

LUTON Town defender Scott Griffiths has delayed his planned hernia operation and will instead play on through the pain barrier while the Hatters' hopes of reaching the League Two play-offs remain alive.

The left-back had missed the previous five games before returning to the side for the 1-0 win at Tranmere Rovers on Monday, but revealed afterwards that he would need to have the operation this week.

He was due to go under the knife on Thursday but he has found that his levels of discomfort have not been as bad as first feared following the Prenton Park clash.

Town boss John Still said a specialist had advised Griffiths that he could play on until the end of the season with the help of pain relief and careful management, so he may now feature for the rest of the campaign and the play-offs should the Hatters make it.

That is in sharp contrast to what Griffiths had said previously with the 29-year-old saying after the Tranmere game: "It really needs to be done otherwise it will get worse and I won't be able to walk properly."

Still said: "He played Monday, had a good rest and was going in to have the operation. But after the game he felt remarkably good, so in consultation with the specialist we've come to a point where he can probably get to the end of the season."

"It can't get any worse, it's whether he can deal with the pain side of it and he just feels that we have a chance of the play-offs and he wants to be involved in that."

"He feels it can be managed at the moment because of the amount of rest we can get into him. So certainly Saturdays I think will not present him any problems, whether it's Tuesday and Saturday we'll have a look at that."

"The plan now is to have the operation as soon as our season finishes, unless it becomes so painful he can't. But the surgeon seems to feel he's got over the worst part of it. Certain medication helps him and they've found the right medication."

"He couldn't believe how good he felt on Monday and after Monday as normally when the effects of the tablets wear off you get a bit sore. But that wasn't the case so we're now back to a situation where we'll just monitor it day by day."

Griffiths said after the Tranmere game: "It's been fairly bad, or I could feel it, from the end of October, start of November. I've been trying to take painkillers to mask it and they're working a bit. I had to up the dosage to a higher strength to try to get through games. I've come off of it quite a bit now so I can give my kidneys a bit of a rest."

"It's extremely aggravating. I'd love to be able to play through it but the pain is ridiculous. Trying to struggle through every training session is not doing me any good. "It couldn't have come at a worse time."

"When I had one on my other side, when I was 26, I was jogging well within two weeks. Luke Rooney, who has just left us, I believe he was back in training after about two weeks. It just depends."

"There is ligament damage in there, which doesn't help the cause, so it might add a little more time on, but I'd like to think I'm strong enough."

CONTRACT ENDED: Paul Connolly

Connolly exits Town after his contract is cancelled

HATTERS

PAUL Connolly has left Luton Town after the defender's contract was cancelled by mutual consent.

The 31-year-old full-back joined the club in the summer and made his debut in the opening day League Two win over Carlisle, but then found opportunities to be at a premium.

His last game for the Hatters was in the 2-1 defeat to Cambridge United in the FA Cup in January, and he only made six appearances in all.

Connolly posted on Twitter: "Lots of reasons it didn't work out. I can't and won't say too much more."

"Trust me when I say it wasn't through lack of trying, I wish the players and the great fans all the success in the world."

"I hope to visit Wembley for the play-off final to see Luton Town get promoted. Keep the faith."

Boss John Still has promised to freshen up his squad with Connolly following winger Luke Rooney, another recent departure, to the exits.

Development league glory

HATTERS

LUTON Town have won the Final Third Development League South Division thanks to a thumping 6-1 victory away at Gillingham on Tuesday.

The Hatters ran riot in Kent to win the eight team regional division for second string sides.

A hat-trick from Shaun Whalley, a double from Alex Lacey and a strike by Ricky Miller were enough to see off the Gills.
